      Mr. Boonsom Ayutthaya was brought into music industry by Kru Mongkhol Amatayakul, a leader of Chularat band, and he used the name “Porn Pirom” since then. His first 3 songs were “Lomjar”, “Kratom Thong Kwao” and “Larnrak Larnthei” which were not so well-known, then he sung “Dorkpha Lablae” composed by Paitoon Kaikaew, but still was not that famous. He was discouraged and was about to return singing Likei as previous. However, His 5th song, “Bua Toom Bua Barn” composed and sung by himself and intended to be the last one if it was not work, gave him a first success in 1960, and made him publicly well-known throughout the country. He became one of the 4 musketeers of Chularat band at that time. Since then, Boonsom Meesomwong has been known as a famous Lookthung singer under the name “Porn Pirom”.
      Porn Pirom had been singing with Chularat band for many years and had sung around 260 songs mostly composed and sung by him, and he used the name Boonsom Ayutthaya as a composer’s name.

2. Porn Pirom’s songs Analysis
   1. General Features
      1.1 Stories of his songs can be categorized as follows:
         1.1.1 Songs composed from his real life experiences like his love experience in “Bua Toom Bua Barn” and traveling experience in “Kratom Thong Kwaa”, etc.
         1.1.2 Songs composed from the tales he had been told like “Dao Look Kai” which was composed from one of the tales he was told when following his father to Likei house, and “Jam Jai Jark” composed from the story he was told by Sompoj Selakul concerning a mother-in-law of Sompoj himself.
      The meaning of the songs in summary
      1. “Bua Toom Bua Barn” was a story of a man falling in love with 2 girls, who were at different ages, at the same time. Porn Pirom used a comparison method by using ways of life of villagers at that time when both channel had been generally applied and by comparing 2 girls at different ages to lotuses born before (Bua Barn) and later (Bua Toom). This metaphor showed a sympathy feeling toward beauty of both “Bua Toom” and “Bua Barn” since “Bua Barn” will get older first and “Bua Toom” will bloom. The man did not know what to do; finally he walked away without choosing any of the girls.

2. "Nam Tar Lar Srai" reflected ways of lovers, a man and a woman promised to love each other and later the man came back but did not see his beloved girl. He reproached her by his one-sided thought, and thought that she forgot the promise. He also thought that the woman left him lonely and complained why she was still silent and did not help him. Then he asked the Holy Spirit, a deva, to bring back his beloved girlfriend. He just wished for a chance to meet her only for a night even he had to trade his life for this. He had been waiting for her under the Srai tree for a long time, but he did not see her at all, so he cried and bemoaned her under the Srai tree.

3. "Kratom Thong Kwao" narrated the atmosphere around the hut which located by a stream, and nearby was a Thong Kwao tree, so it was a metaphor of a dreamful heaven. The composer of this song compared the wind blowing to the sound of crying and bemoaning, and also the scents of the flowers reminded him of girls.

4. "Jam Jai Jark" was a story of a spouse whose mother-in-law did nothing, but drink liquors and waste his money. She cursed him in front of his relatives even though her son-in-law was diligent and frugal. The man, who had a strong love for his wife, persuaded her to run away, but she could not go with him because of her gratefulness for her mother even she loved him very much. Then she decided to stay with her mother in order to pay back gratefulness to her mother.

5. "Dao Look Kai" narrated that we were born without knowing who had destined our lives, but Buddism principle teaches us that we are all born accompanied with retribution and were specified by results of good deed – bad deed since our birth by raising an example of a tale of our faiths that once upon a time, there was a couple of an old spouse, they were poor and built a small house at the foot of a mountain in a rural area. They had raised a hen with its 7 small chicks. Normally the old couple, the hen and its 7 chicks had made a living according to their means and one day there was a wandering monk came by and stayed in the back of their house. The lyric of “Dao Look Kai part 1” can be summarized to this some extent.

6. "Wang Mae Look Aorn" was one of Lae songs narrating a tale in narrative rhyme to tell a story which actually occurred at Wang Mae lookkai–orn. Once upon a time, there was a daughter of a millionaire who fell in love with a farmer and later they decided to run away together. The millionaire’s daughter got pregnant and lived with difficulty due to a little money they got from a charcoal burning. Giving birth to a son caused them a worse living, and they could not stand such a difficulty. Finally, they agreed to return to their homeland. On the way back home, they stopped to rest under the big tree and the millionaire’s daughter had a serious stomachache. This part finished to this some extent.

The Forms of the Songs

1. Lookthung songs compose of binary forms like in “Bua Toom Bua Barn”, “Kratom Thong Kwao”, and “Jam Jai Jark”. It compose of unitary forms like in song “Jam Jai Jark”.

2. Lae songs are songs with a single round playing without a repetition, like those shown in “Dao Look Kai” and “Mae Look Aorn”.
2. Lyrics

2.1 The forms of lyric compositions can be categorized into 2 types:

1. Lookthung songs
   - Composing of extemporaneous pieces of verse.

2. Lae songs
   - Composing of a single rhyme like in “Dao Look Kai”.
   - Composing of eight-syllable rhymes like in “Wang Mae Look Aorn”.

3. Melodies

3.1 Interval consists of both Major interval and Minor interval which are shown in Lookthung songs.

3.2 Variation shown in Lookthung song.

3.3 Melodic Motion is different in each song; it the pitch is high and low and sometimes is on the same, constant level.

3.4 Analysis on the relationships between Lookthung voice and tonal voice. Comparing with two songs called ‘Down Lookkai’ and ‘Wang Maelook-orn’, in the 1st part of song Dow Lookkai Re Looktuk sound and normal tonal marks have been applied mostly and in the 1st part of song Wang Maelook-orn T Looktuk sound and normal tonal marks have been applied mostly.
